Dedication Statement

In many difficult years at Savannah State College history numerous individuals and organizations have devoted themselves to the unselfish task of fashioning a great college, none has been more zealous in this regard than Mr. Wesley L. Johnson, Jr. Since you have enriched and enhanced the economics and cultural life of the Savannah State College family it is only fitting that the Tiger Staff of 1970-71, do so gratefully dedicate the 1971 Tiger to you, "Our Father away from Home." Our college Comptroller.

Congratulations

The beginning of 1971 has brought on a major change in Savannah State's history. Dr. Howard Jordan, President of our college since 1963 has progressed to the position of Vice Chancellor of the Georgia State Board of Regents, becoming the first BLACK so named.

Dr. Jordan's successor, is Dr. Prince A. Jackson Jr., Chairman of the Division of Natural Sciences at Savannah State.

To Dr. Jackson, we the members of the 1971 Tiger Staff extend to you our sincere CONGRATULATION and pledge our loyal support of your efforts.

Savannah State College has come a long way since it was founded on November 26, 1890 as a unit of the University of Georgia. Initially it was named Georgia State Industrial College for Colored Youths, an institution which provided four years of high school training, a normal division training in agriculture and the mechanical arts. After placement of the entire system under the Board of Regents in 1931, the college began to offer degree programs with majors in English, the natural sciences, social sciences, and business administration. The name Georgia State College was changed to Savannah State College on January 18, 1950 by the Board of the University System of Georgia.

Presently, SSC is a five-year accredited college of arts and science, teacher education, Business and Engineering Technology.

Savannah State College offers courses leading to the baccalaureate degree with a major in each of these areas of concentration: accounting, biology, chemistry, civil technology, dietetics and institution management, economics, elementary education, electronics technology, English, general business administration, mathematics, mechanical technology, secondary education, secretarial science, social sciences, and textiles and clothing, early childhood education, criminal justice and medical technology.

The campus of Savannah State College encompasses area of 136 acres of unparalleled scenic loveliness located in industrious Savannah, the third largest city in Georgia.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Dr. Martin Luther King was a great, great man,
He was loved by most throughout the land.

He was plain and Peaceful, but at times he would fight,
To get other men their needed rights.

There were marches, demonstrations, but they were peaceful my friend,
He never lifted a finger to harm one man.

Sometime he succeeded, sometime he would fall,
But he didn't love one man, he loved us all.

His major cause he didn't hold back,
Yes, my friends it was to help the blacks.

I turned on the radio and it came with a blast,
He shouted, "Free at last, free at last, thank God Almighty I'm free at last."

His voice could move mountains and hew trees down,
His sterness was enough to make a jester frown.

James Earl Ray took his life,
Made his children fatherless and a widow of his wife.

Tell me, friend, do you remember the dreams,
Of that great, great American called Dr. Martin Luther King?

A dream of freedom, a dream of love,
A dream that all men would be as gentle as doves.

A dream that one day freedom would come,
A dream that all men would be alike as one.

These dreams he didn't live to see,
He gave his life so that we would be free.

Not free to beg, bum, lie or cheat,
But free for the things in life that are sweet.

He wasn't ashamed of the skin on his face,
This man gave his all for his race.

He strived to make our skin just as good,
As any man's skin, as every man should.

On the busses you must sit in the back,
It was once you had to because you were Black.

The seats in theaters were all for the Whites,
The Blacks did not have one single right.

And these rights weren't given; they were earned my friend,
By Dr. Martin Luther King, a great Black man.

When you're called Black don't be ashamed,
Because Black is beautiful; be proud of your name.

I said Black is beautiful, you must understand,
Through history there have been great black men.

Harriet Tubman and her freeing of slaves,
The poems that Paul Lawrence Dunbar gave.

Booker T. Washington and his education;
Carver put the peanut all over the nation.

These, my friend, are just a few,
Dr. Martin Luther King was a great man too.

Tell me where is our leader today?
If you ask me, this is what I'll say.

He's probably up there above the clouds,
Looking down laughing and oh so proud.

Saying and shouting, "I love you all,
Keeping forward my children; please never stall."

Then he'll see Uncle Toms near and wide,
And then he'll say, "for you I died."

"I left earth and her way of life,
I miss my children, I want my wife."

Then God will tap his shoulder and say,
"Come, faithful servant, we must talk today."

And all the angels sitting will stand,
And they'll shout, "Mr. King you're a great, great man."

And now that you've heard me I guess I must end,
By saying that Dr. Martin Luther King was a great, great man.

SPRING CONCERT

Bill Russell Tell It Like It Is

When Bill Russell appeared before the marathon audience at Savannah State College, he revealed to everyone present what he is – a man.

Rapping from no prepared text, the former Boston Celtic great spoke on the subjects that are of interest now. He talked about welfare, the moon mess-up, the Black and white students' role in the racial disturbances, marijuana and drugs, the war in Vietnam and of course basketball. Listening to the great sports figure, you realize that he is not a myth but reality.

Russell made it clear that he is against "grass" and drugs, and that we already have a big problem and so not need to get another one, referring to becoming drug addicts and constant smokers of pot. He made it plain that he is against the war in Vietnam, saying that the Senators who talk about how to end it should get on the battlefield and really end it. Russell, a two-time All-American at the University of San Francisco in 1955 and 1956, was the first Black super star in the National Basketball Association.

June graduation marked the 101st graduation ceremony at Savannah State College. The June graduating class had as its speaker Dr. Samuel Proctor, Pro. of Education in the Graduate School of Education, Rutgers, New Brunswick, New Jersey.

The speaker for August graduation was Vernon E. Jordan, Jr., Executive Director of the United Negro College Fund, Inc.

The two graduation ceremonies presented Savannah State with approximately 300 graduates. It also represented, very unexpectedly, the last ceremonies for Dr. Howard Jordan.

Attorney C. B. King

The summer of 1970 marked campaign season for those who wished to hold public offices. This summer, campaign season brought to Savannah State's campus candidates for state as well as local offices. Among those who came were C. B. King, Candidate for Governor of Georgia, D. F. Glover, candidate for LT. Governor, Juanita Williams, candidate for Comptroller General, and Savannah's own Hosea Williams.

This election marked the first time in Georgia history that a Black man has attempted to run for the office of Governor. Hosea Williams visit made Savannah realize the importance of having a Black man run for Governor.

The Savannah State College Players By The Sea presented, as their fall play "Black Comedy" on November 17-19 at Kennedy Auditorium. The Players, under the direction of Mr. R. L. Stevenson, presented the one act comedy to capacity crowds every night.

Unlike the name implies, "Black Comedy" isn't a play about Black people but rather a play that is performed in the dark. It is a story of a playboy who wants to have his cake and eat it too. He finds out that two women mean double trouble, especially when he's engaged to one and the other decides to show up, at the wrong time as can be expected.

The characters in the play were: John Wilhite (Brindsley), Brenda Logan (Carol), Willie Mae Sadsberry (Clea), Terrence Romanski (Harold), Emma Jean Mosely (Miss Furnival), John Garvin (Schuppangigh) Everett Huggins (Banburger), John Alkerty (colonel).

Until we as a student body realize the common front, the common goal, that existing need for a better and greater SSC we will forever in any worthwhile pursuit be our own undoing. On December 5, 1971, the brothers of Delta Eta Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity Inc. celebrated its annual founders day by honoring the founders and the founding of our great and prosperous fraternity. The address was given by our president, Bro. Vernon T. Bryant. Brother Bryant's speech was entitled "The Hands of Revolution" which was basically an interpretation of what our first place homecoming float stood for, which also carried the same title.

During the program the Alpha glee club sang songs and the ever vocal Bro. Charles Bass read the essay "When the Revolution Comes"

The conclusion was highlighted by the singing of our sacred fraternity hymn by all college and fraternity brothers.

HOMECOMING & QUEENS

Dr. Howard Jordan, Jr.

President's Message

The class of 1971 is graduated at the beginning of a new decade. From here you go to the near and far corners of this nation to make your mark in the world. You graduate at a time when race relations in America are at the crossroads – the crossroads of retrogression or progression. You graduate at a time when the American society itself is locked in one of the most severe and sustained domestic crises in history – a constitutional crisis in the Government, campus unrest, repression from the Left and Right, mutual distrust between the old and the young, crime, war, hostility between the haves and the have nots, and seemingly insoluble economic turmoil.

The only solution to these periods of distress is DEDICATION towards the development of people to serve as leaders in our quest, as a race, for first-class citizenship. It seems to me that, above all, your college education must have developed in you sound principles of human relations. It is my hope that the graduates of this College, at this point in time, will be on the frontier developing ways of living with others that will inspire the cultivation of every individual's potentialities, rather than their destruction. It is also my hope that the great fears which we face today will subside because you as graduates have the understanding, the sense of responsibility, faith, and confidence, in such large measures that you can help mankind live and work together for the good of the human family.

I congratulate the class of 1971 and I wish them God's finest blessing as they leave us to go to their various endeavors.

Sincerely,
Howard Jordan, Jr.
President

Dr. Jordan crowns Miss SSC

One of the most challenging duties of the student body each year is to select Miss Savannah State College. This always proves to be a difficult task since any one of the contestants would be capable of holding this title. The contestants are judged on the basis of poise, talent, facial beauty and personality.

This year the honored title of Miss Savannah State College 1970-71 is held by Miss Duane Adams. Duane is a senior from Macon majoring in Business Administration. She is a member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Phi Beta Lambda, Marshall Board and the Executive Branch of the Student Government.

Miss SSC's court is composed of four very charming young ladies, Miss Senior Attendant, Rose Moore; Miss Junior Attendant, Eloise Cooper; Miss Sophomore Attendant, Jerrie McMichael and Miss Freshman Attendant, Denise Sharpe.

Omega Psi Phi Fraternity

The Omega Psi Phi Fraternity was organized Friday evening, November 17, 1911, in the office of Ernest E. Just, Professor of Biology, Howard University. The Organizers were three students in the college of Liberal Arts, Edgar A. Love, Oscar J. Cooper and Frank Coleman. Professor Just was their faculty advisor.

At the first meeting, the name of the Fraternity was formed, Omega Psi Phi meaning, "Friendship is essential to the soul." Manhood, scholarship, perserverance and uplift were adopted as cardinal principles.

Zeta Phi Beta Fall Pledge Line

"No man is an island." This idea of togetherness and dependence among men also applies to the relationship between men and women. In 1920 the brothers of Phi Beta Sigma decided that instead of adopting a sister organization, they would assist in the organization of a new sorority to be their true, eternal and universal sisters. This idea was discussed with Miss Arizona Cleaver who later met with four other young women. They decided to organize a sorority which they hoped would reach college women in all parts of the world who were sorority-minded and desired to affiliate with a group which had as its objectivesm the ideas of service, scholarship and sisterhood, and for its ideal – finer womanhood.

Cross Country

Curtis Richburg, the slender, sly, slick and strong runner from Baxley, Georgia, was the best runner in the SIAC as he was the only one to win five contests, all consecutively. Richburg is quiet, but wise because he knows what he can do and he did it. He finished first against Fort Valley, Benedict twice, Morehouse, and arch-rival Armstrong State. Richburg has to be rated as the best cross-country runner since William Alderman, also a Baxley native.

The other members of the five and two team, that finished fourth in SIAC championship play are Gregory Hunter, "Fast" Freddie Cooper, Jesse Blake, "Wild" Wilbur Eason, and David Cornegay.

Departmental

Department Of Fine Arts

The Department of Fine Arts, embracing the areas of Art and Music, strives constantly to develop and maintain a high quality of instruction and learning. The special interests and ability of our students are of primary concern as the two curricula are formulated to give experiences in practical as well as in theoretical situations. Aesthetic values are stressed in every facet of instruction, and positives, creative and competent attitudes are encouraged.

To complete requirement for the degree of Bachelor of Science in Art Education, the Art major pursues courses that will enable him to teach, continue to Graduate School, produce creative ideas, enrich his own growth and serve as a valuable member of the community. Through experiences in the graphic and plastic arts he is able to reach efficiency in keeping with desired aspirations.

To complete requirements for the degree of Bachelor of Science in Music Education, the Music major becomes involved with theoretical and applied courses that are geared for the teaching field, graduate studies, musical performances on the concert stage, creative work as composers and other successful careers in the several other areas of music. Throughout his program his personal development is enriched so that he may become a better person and a better citizen in society as a result of the rigid discipline and the rewarding characteristics of good musical training.

In both areas of study the Department is proud of its annual graduates who are distinguishing themselves throughout the world in their professional careers. Housed in the beautiful John F. Kennedy Fine Arts Center, the Department of Fine Arts provides a constant and continuous source of service and beauty to the college, the community and the world.

COLERIDGE A. BRAITHWAITE, Ed.D

Department of Engineering Technology

Man's desire to conquer outer space has brought about a spectacular technological revolution is based on man's ability to utilize better engineering and scientific principles and has caused a tremendous increase in the demand for workers in technical and professional occupations. Since the 1940's the growth in these occupations has been at a much faster rate than any other broad occupational group and probably will continue for many years to come.

Recognizing that engineering technology is an important technical profession in the space age, the Department of Engineering Technology offers the Bachelor of Science degree curricula in civil, electronics and mechanical technology which are designed to meet the technological demands of an automated society.

Civil technology is one of the broadest fields in the overall practice of engineering technology because its work is coordinated with so many other branches of science and engineering. Civil technology too, is concerned with the planning, designing and construction of buildings, roads, bridges, dams and other facilities for land, sea, air and space transportation.

The electronic technology curriculum provides instruction in the fundamentals of vacuum tubes, semiconductor circuits, transmitters, microwaves, electrical machinery and servomechanism theory with emphasis on the application of theoretical principles to actual electronic devices.

The Department also offers curricula in industrial teacher education which are designed to prepare teachers for industrial arts education, trade and industrial education programs of the public schools.

CLYDE W. HALL, Ed.D.

Department Of Chemistry

The work in the Department of Chemistry is intended to serve four purposes: (1) to provide a thorough foundation in the general courses for students who seek an understanding of the methods and achievements of the chemist; (2) to include the needed semi-specialized preparation for students who are majoring in home economics and engineering technology; (3) to afford training for persons who plan to teach science in the secondary school; and (4) to include pre-professional training for students who intend to study dentistry, medicine, and the like, and for those who plan to enter graduate school.

The Department of Chemistry offers the usual general courses, a minor sequence, and courses leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science with a major in chemistry.

WILLIE G. TUCKER, Ph.D.

Division of Education

The Division of Education serves three major purposes: (1) in cooperation with the Collegewide Teacher Education Committee and the Georgia Council on Teacher Education, it spearheads the planning, experimentation and evaluation of the total teacher education program; (2) it assumes chief responsibility in the selection, guidance and training of students for the work of teaching in elementary and secondary schools; (3) it provides an adequate foundation for advanced study on the graduate level for persons who plan to continue their educational preparation following graduation.

This division comprises three departments: The Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation; and the Department of Secondary Education. The preparation of teachers is, however, a college-wide commitment. Because every division and department at the college is involved in teacher education in some subject matter, this function engages the constant interest and efforts, staff resources and facilities of the entire staff.

MRS. THELMA M. HARMOND, Ph.D.

Mathematics And Physics Activities

In order to meet the challenges of today, the Department of Mathematics and Physics has reassessed its role as a unit of the college. In addition to stimulating new ideas, provoking thought, and acquiring certain basic skills, (1) this department has accepted the challenge set forth by the computer world by training its majors in the art of computer equipment (all these experiences are direct product of our computer center), (2) the department has designed its course of studies in such a way that its majors will be equipped with the primary knowledge and skills that would make them sought after in positions of industrial and Civil Service work; (3) it makes an attempt to provide a background for those students who wish to do further study in the area of Mathematics and Physics, (4) it hopes to help students to evaluate and recognize the continuous changes which occur theoretically, practically and linguistically with the hope that he will make adjustments to them with ease, (5) it makes an effort to provide tutorial and unscheduled laboratory services to students from the whole college community.

The department has kept its curriculum upgraded, constantly changing its textbooks to keep in touch with new developments in various disciplines. Members of the department attend professional meetings and present papers at such conventions. The head of the department is presently chairman of the mathematics advisory council to the Board of Regents of Georgia.

Our Newtonian Society (made up of Students and professors) provides an outlet for student research papers, which are published in our official journal.

Most of all this department takes pride in the rapport between teachers and students.

The Department is proud to announce that of its ten members, five hold the Ph.D. Degree and all have done advanced study.

Two members of the mathematics and physics staff are guest professors through courtesy of Bell Telephone System and I.B.M. Cooperation. Their value to the institution is immeasurable.

JOHN B. CLEMMONS, M.S.

Department Of Modern Languages

The aims of the Department of Modern Languages are (1) to develop the ability to communicate in a foreign language; (2) to instill respect for other peoples and other cultures; (3) to develop an appreciation for the artistic expressions which are found in other languages; and (4) to bring about a greater awareness of our cultural heritage. Underlying these aims is the ultimate goal for a more effective life.

HOWARD JASON, Ph.D.

Department Of Home Economics

The objective of the Department of Home Economics is for each student to become a well-informed person ready to take advantage of the expanding opportunities for home economists in our world of accelerated change. A degree in home economics provides a broad, liberal education along with a specialty to prepare young people for tomorrow's world. The degree equips graduates to be "professional consumers" and prepares them for immediate or future careers and to earn above-average salaries. The degree gives clarity and a fresh vision for problems in home and family living. Research shows that family life experiences enhance a woman's professional growth in the field of home economics.

MRS. EVANEL TERRELL, M.S.

Department Of Business Administration

The main purpose of the Division of Business Administration is to afford students a sound educational foundation for social effectiveness, as well as gainful work in the business world. Specifically, through curricular offerings, supervised work experiences, and individual counselling this division prepares students for (1) employment as bookkeepers, accountants, secretaries, stenographers, and salesmen; (2) operation, management, and ownership of business enterprises; (3) teaching business subjects in the secondary school; (4) further study in accounting, business economics, general business, secretarial science, and business education. To realize these aims the division offers courses leading to the degree of Bachelor of Business Administration.

In addition to the degree programs, the division offers a terminal secretarial science course for students who do not find it convenient to remain in college for four years. Through intensive study and concentrated effort, such students are enabled to prepare for such positions as typists, stenographers, bookkeepers, and file clerks.

MRS. MARY CLAY TORIAN, Ed.D.

Department Of English

The aims of the Department of English are (1) to develop proficiency in oral and written language; (2) to instill an appreciation for good literature; (3) to encourage a deep perceptiveness of mind in order to make it more flexible and inquisitive; and (4) to reveal the operation of the human spirit in our civilization. The ultimate aim of the department is a quality of mind, rather than a mere accumulation of information.

HOWARD M. JASON, Ph.D.

Department Of Biology

The Department of Biology has as its aims:

a. To provide for all students the opportunities, experiences and understandings of the principles and concepts of biology.
b. To train students adequately through the media of suitable courses for continuation of study in the medical profession and graduate schools.
c. To provide students with an opportunity to acquire knowledge about the relevance of biology to some of the urgent problems of today, the need for conservation of both human and natural resources and the need for research in the quest for a better society.
d. To provide training in meathods of critical thinking, open-mindedness, self-criticism, patience, endurance and tolerance which are attributes useful in daily living.

MRS. MARARET ROBINSON, Ph.D.

Department Of Social Sciences

In order to understand what is, man must know what has been. It is with this idea in mind that the Social Science division concentrates its attention. Social Science is the highest expression of achievement in our society, attempting to ennoble and enrich human life. Students may receive majors in Social Science Teaching Education and Sociology with a concentration in Social Work at Savannah State College.

Persons interested in careers as social workers, probation officers, vocational counselors, camp counselors, employment interviewers, juvenile court workers, and officials in the immigration service should take Curriculum II, with a concentration in Sociology, leading to the professional study of social work.

ELMER J. DEAN, Ed.D.

Department Of Health, Physical Education And Recreation

The essential aim of the Department of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation is to provide professional training for pre-service and in-service teachers of health, physical education, and recreation in the elementary and secondary schools. The department encourages only potentially qualified students to take professional training in this field. It seeks also to provide instruction for all students in the basic principles of health and recreational activity needed for wholesome living.

In pursuit of the foregoing aims this department provides a four-fold program of instruction. For students who plan to become professional workers in the field of health, physical education, and recreation (either in schools or in other agencies) the department offers a sequence of specialized training leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education, with a concentration in health, physical education, and recreation program. In addition, it provides basic training in supervision of one or more phases of a comprehensive health, physical education, and recreation program in the schools of Georgia for all students enrolled in teacher education curricula at the college. This phase of the work is provided either in selected specialized courses or in a minor sequence.

Why on earth would they use paper to help launch a moon shot?

The paper is used in this 327-foot Apollo service tower. As honeycomb panel cores. Laminated to aluminum "skins".

The panels form the enclosing wall of the 120-foot-wide tower base. And the huge hinged gates which open and envelop the rocket during servicing.

Why paper honeycomb? Because it's incredibly strong. And incredibly light. The giant gates swing easy. And precious pounds are saved in the 32-story structure whose weight can flatten the railroad wheels below when they are not in motion.

Union Camp honeycomb has hundreds of other uses—in both commercial and residential construction. Everything from floors to walls and to roofs. Even the sky isn't the limit.

The paper for Union Camp's Honeycomb is manufactured at the huge Savannah Complex, the world's largest pulp-to-container plant.

SAVANNAH STATE COLLEGE
STATE COLLEGE BRANCH
SAVANNAH, GEORGIA 31404

This page always marks the end of the yearbook and also the end of lots of hard work and time. Usually, the editor takes this opportunity to thank all those people who have helped to make the book a success. This I could do in a few short words to a limited number of people. I don't feel that I have to thank my co-workers because I have done this so many times that they should know by now the gratitude and appreciation that I hold.

I would like to, I guess in the traditional manner, say to the student body that this was one of the hardest jobs I have ever tackled in my short college career. My first and biggest problem was that, being a sophomore, I had to worry about more things than just getting the book out. My grades had to come in somewhere and that was my major worry. However, my staff helped me through and they are the reason you hold this book in your hands now.

Thinking about 304 pages of nothing was rather scary at the beginning, but as I look back on all those nights working on pages when others were having fun or at basketball games, it seems as if it wasn't so bad after all. I must admit, however, that I have had better times in my life.

I challenge the students at Savannah State to cooperate more with upcoming yearbook staffs. It's YOUR school and YOUR book. Those of you who didn't help make this book in any way have no right to critize or complain. If you like it, wonderful, but if you don't help to make the next one better.
